City of Lemon Grove sponsors Clean-up Day

Lemon Grove's Annual Clean-up Day is scheduled for Saturday, April 20, 1991 from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Residents or business owners in Lemon Grove have the opportunity to bring trash to the corner of Olive and Pacific Avenues (one block south of Broadway) for deposit in the dumpsters. Clean-up Day is sponsored by the City of Lemon Grove and EDCO Disposal. McDonald's Restaurant will provide free drinks.

In order to cover part of the cost of the clean-up, a small fee will be charged as follows: $1 per each car; $2 for each truck, van or car with trailer and $4 for trucks over 8 feet.

Proof of residency in Lemon Grove will be required. Residents will be requested to show a valid driver's license or vehicle registration, and business owners must show their current business license. The City will provide assistance in unloading vehicles.

Senior citizens or handicapped persons may call City Hall at 464-6934 to arrange to have large objects picked up at their home. Requests must be received by 5 p.m. on Tuesday, April 16, as pickups will be made on Thursday, April 18 and Friday, April 19 between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m.

No hazardous materials--oil, paint, car batteries, or other toxic waste can be accepted. The county of San Diego is staging a Hazardous Waste Collection Day on May 22, 1991 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the County Public Works Yard at the corner of Waite Drive and Murray Hill Road, at which time such items may be disposed of safely.

Recycling bins for glass, newspapers and aluminum cans will be provided.

Helix High School student nominated for McDonald's All-American High School Band

Justin Tinker of Helix High School and Jim Rogers of Grossmont High School are among those nominated to be members on one of the nation's most prestigious high school bands: The McDonald's All-American High School Band.

Now celebrating its 25th anniversary, the All-American Band is comprised of one high school senior from each state as well as from the District of Columbia, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

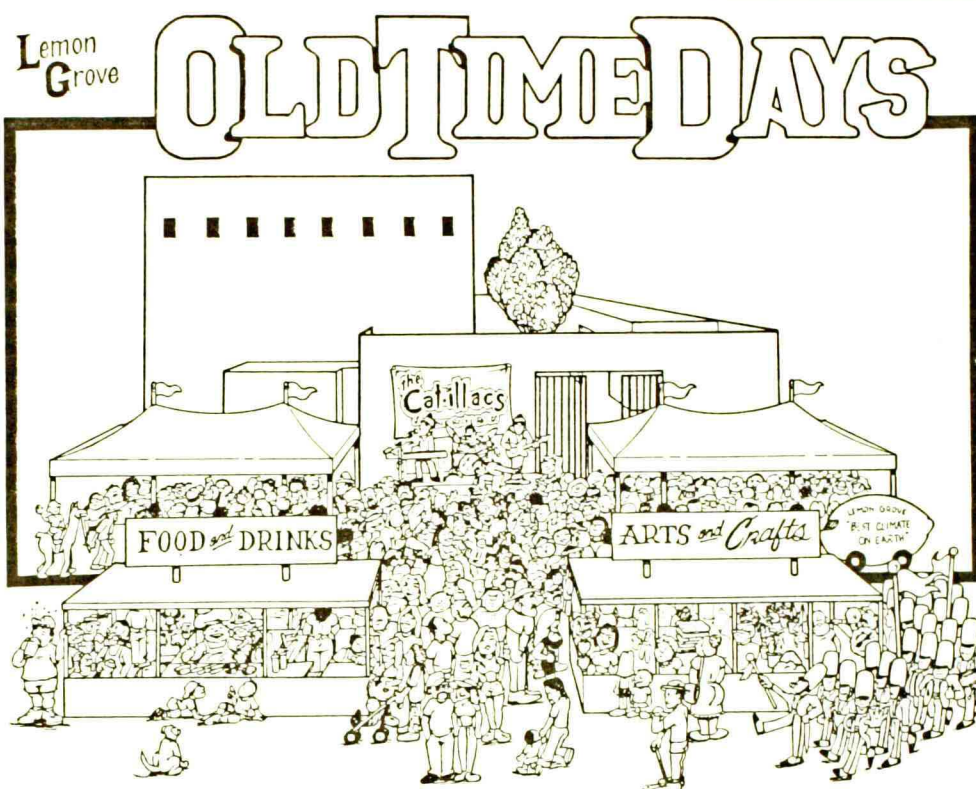

"It's always been the philosophy of McDonald's to reward outstanding teenagers for their accomplishments," said Kris Schulz, president of San Diego McDonald's Owner/Operator Association. "The opportunity to perform with the McDonald's All-American High School Band is a fitting tribute to these student's excellent musicianship," he added.

The All-American Band was created in 1967 to bestow young musicians with the same "All-American" status usually awarded to athletes. Each band member was nominated for this honor by their high school band director.

Lemon Grove resident Remington Gsoell won a sporty new Toyota Celica in the San Diego Humane Society raffle. Gsoell said he routinely buys raffle tickets--never expecting to win. This time he got lucky and it was the first time he has ever won anything! Gsoell said, "Maybe I'm on a role. I should go to Vegas!"

Old Time Days set for May 10 & 11

By Lisa Parsons

Fun, food and festivities all add up to Lemon Grove Old Time Days, May 10th & 11th.

The festivities kick off Friday with the Firemen's Bar-B-Q and a street dance featuring the Catillacs. The Bar-B-Q starts at 5:30 p.m. and will go until 8 p.m. or the food runs out (whichever comes first). Lemon Grove's fire-fighters will be cooking up a full meal: barbecued beef, ranch-style beans, coleslaw, corn and rolls. Tickets will be sold at the door only. Game booths and other fun activities will be set up for the kids. The dance will follow the Bar-B-Q and the fireworks begin at 9 p.m.

Arts and crafts sellers will also set up their wares on Friday.

Food marks the beginning of Old Time Days on Saturday with the Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast. Fill up before the parade for only $3--tickets are on sale now and at the door.

The Old Time Days Parade starts at 11 a.m. sharp. The Grand Marshal this year is Mark Larson of KFMB and the Honorary Grand Marshal is Sheriff Jim Roache.

An impressive line-up of bands including the Mt. Miguel High School, Helix High School, Lemon Grove Middle School, the Marine Corps Recruit Depot and San Ysidro Middle School marching bands will keep the parade moving musically along. The parade will follow the same route as last year, beginning at Washington and Broadway, and then making a left turn onto Lemon Grove Avenue.

Following the parade, visitors can enjoy the Old Time Days Faire, featuring numerous arts and crafts, food and game booths. The llama rides are expected to return this year as well. The food and crafts booths will be intermingled throughout the Faire this year--in the parking lot south of the Bank of America and the Recreation Department parking lot.

Residents of Lemon Grove will also notice that Old Time Days has a new logo (shown above).

Joe Barajas, a recreation leader for the Lemon Grove Recreation Department, spent approximately 18 months designing the detailed scene highlighting Old Time Days events. The new logo will be printed on white T-shirts in neon colors which will be sold for $10. The T-shirts should be available by April 15th.

Barajas has done a great deal of graphic work for the City in the past, his most recent work being the banner welcoming home the Desert Storm troops.

Anyone wishing to assist with Old Time Days may contact John Pipes at 466-6229.

Lemon Grove Middle School girls win 'Camp-in' at Rueben H. Fleet Space Science Center

Many children have explored the Reuben H. Fleet Space Theater & Science Center and wished that their home could be like it, well--for one night--that wish will come true for seven Lemon Grove Middle School girls.

The girls earned this unique opportunity by writing a two-page essay on one of the following topics: "The importance of science in my life," "Juggling a science career and family responsibilities" and "Is science a man's world?" A letter of recommendation from a teacher or principal was also required.

The winners are: Rachel Shoff, Summer Aymar, Rebecca Jones, Natalie Huizar, Sara Ott, Amy Lopez and Kieta Wheeler.

The overnight Camp-In to be held April 13-14, will feature museum tours, demonstrations, films and special speakers. In order to interest the girls in the many science related careers, they will be chaperoned by local professional women who currently have careers in various fields of science and education.

The Camp-In is limited to 30 seventh and eighth-grade girls. The winners will sleep overnight amid the Science Center exhibits and all their meals and snacks will be provided. The event is sponsored by the Science Center.

Mt. Miguel El Trovador News Briefs

Ten Mount Miguel students are to participate in the 37th annual science and Engineering Fair from April 10 to 14. Seniors, Jon Atienza, Jessica Bulling, Mary Enciso, Kathleen Gibilisco, Jason Gloyer, Heather Goodwin, Robert Harget, Joaquin Leon, Harry Pederson III, and Jake Raroque will display their exhibits in this highly-esteemed event held at the Federal building in Balboa Park.

Mt. Miguel's string orchestra and concert/cadet each received a judgement of high excellence and the symphonic orchestra received one of "unanimous superior" at performances given on Friday, April 5 at Southwestern College.

The Grossmont Union High School District held its opening reception last Sunday, April 7, at the East County Performing Arts Center with exhibits of student art from all ten high schools. The art works will be on display throughout the month.

Seniors Awards Night is scheduled for June 12 at Mount Miguel. Students receiving awards will receive notification, and parents and friends are welcome to attend. The evening will feature presentations of scholarships, school recognition awards and individual honors.

Mount Miguel's summer school will begin Monday, June 24 and continue for two sessions to August 9.

The Grossmont District Governing Board has approved the calendar for the 1991-92 school year. Classes will begin Tuesday, September 10. Winter recess will begin December 23 and end January 3, and graduation will be June 18, 1992.

Mount Miguel's 1991-92 cheerleaders have been selected. Varsity members will be Tiffany Anderson, Stacie Bowes, Melinda Forest, Ai Gast, Claudia Gomez, Wendy Hanes, Roderica Harrey, Nikki Houghton, Christine Kelley, Linda Lansota, Sharon Longbrake, Cassandra Lujan, Rachael Moore, Maria Munoz, Gretchen Reusch and Amber Weigelt. The varsity mascot will be Karina Ramirez. Junior varsity will be Rochelle Camacho, Maria Castellano, Shauna Clark, Hasmin Cisneros, D'Ann Dobbins, Cristi Bal, Michel King, Angela Leyvas, Elizabeth Lewen, Wendy Myers, Sharlett Nobles, Laura Pio and Erin Touchet. JV's mascot is Juniper Couture.

The Governing Board of the Grossmont Union High School District has approved Carmichael-Kemp Architects and Tucker, Sadler and Associates as architects for the District's eleventh high school which will be built in Rancho San Diego.

Today's sports will include boys' tennis vs. Monte Vista, girls' softball vs. Grossmont, boys' baseball at Grossmont, and track at Monte Vista. Tomorrow, girls' swim will be at El Capitan and boys' swim vs. El Capitan, all beginning at 3:30 p.m. Saturday is the Archadia Invitational track meet.

The 4th annual Hispanic Student Conference will be held on Thursday, May 9. Interested students may pick up application forms to participate from Ms. Julie Duenez in the counseling office.

Last week's spirit leaders again were staff. Mrs. Robert Palser, the attendance clerk and Mrs. Pat Neuman, home economics teacher, were the winners.

The winterguard team to 3rd place at the performance last Saturday at Western High School in Anaheim, allowing the team to go on to the finals for the first time in four years.

Mrs. Myrna Goodwin has announced the cast of the spring play, "This Must be the Place," to be performed beginning May 28. Featured will be Scott Kennerly, Yvonne Aquirre, Dennis Henry, Sale Klein, Stephanie Szuch, Layler Stuckey, Brian Crumpacker, Ed Pettis and Torrey Stepp. The student director will be Kaiti Snow.

Obituary

Olin Q. Martin, 67, a former Lemon Grove teacher, died April 6, 1991 in Reedsport, Oregon.

Born December 31, 1921, Martin served in the U.S. Coast Guard during World War II and sorted mail for the U.S. Post Office for 11 years before going on to college and graduating from San Diego State College with his teaching credentials. Martin taught Social Studies and English in Lemon Grove for 11 years. He moved to Reedsport in 1968 and taught until he retired in 1988.

Mt. Miguel holds spring rummage sale

The members of the Mt. Miguel High School band and specialty corps have completed their spring cleaning and are now ready for their Spring Rummage Sale. The sale is planned for this coming Saturday and Sunday, April 13 and 14, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday.

The sale will be held in the Mt. Miguel High School parking lot at 1800 Sweetwater Road in Spring Valley. Over 100 families have cleaned out their garages and closets. The band is hoping to have their best sale ever to help pay off a $7,000 bus bill. The band has had a great year, winning many awards. The real high point of the year was, of course, the honor of marching in the 1991 Rose Parade. Anyone who has donations for the sale may bring things to the school parking lot this Friday night or anytime Saturday. All donations are tax deductible. For more information, call 460-2790.

Personal comments of Councilman Bob Burns

Booking fees are a revenue-producing gimmick that did not exist locally a short time ago. Now, they are in effect in San Diego County as of April 1.

Phrases like, "cost-effective-ness," "full-cost recovery" and "cannibalism," have been assigned to this process, some which cannot be repeated here. The County of San Diego has been given the authority to fix a "cost" of the booking process of criminals and has determined that it is to be $154 per. The County fathers would have us believe that the state forced them to levy this fee under the threat of very severe cutbacks on court and health subsidies that are presently in yearly funding. What they are saying is that "the counties will not miss the revenues because it will be made up with the booking-fee option." This is where the term "cannibalism" apparently came into use.

The amounts of money that will be extracted from city budgets will vary from around $200,000 in a little town like Lemon Grove, to up to $1.25 million in a city like Oceanside. These are sizable sums and are proportionately painful to the different-sized jurisdictions. Some of the cities are suing the County, and some are refusing to pay the fees. Others are rethinking their options in terms of making arrests. There are ramifications regarding the origin of a crime as opposed to where the arrest is made, and which city should pay the booking fee.

The decisions most likely will be to arrest only the very serious criminals and not to process the misdemeanors. The dilution of our meager supply of officers in the field and the overcrowding of the jails, is now further complicated by adding a $154 bill to each miscreant. This seems to me to portend of even more criminals running free on the streets, and an even heavier workload for our police force.

To add salt to the wounds, it has been established that the City of San Diego, by far the largest pool of potential booking fees, is exempt from the fees and will have a free ride. Apparently, some kind of deal was made regarding land and money for building courts which committed the County to absolve the city of the responsibility. It is to be heaped on the backs of the other seventeen cities. Some prescient bureaucrat is no doubt licking his or her negotiating-chops over this deal. A rough estimate would be that the San Diego contribution might well not even exceed the first year's bookings at $154 per. How many years can go on with such an inequity?

Sometime ago, there was talk at the upper levels of the County government about the County "getting out of the services business." It came from an elected official that is no longer there, and I do not know how many, if any of the other Supervisors stated the same opinion. My question to him was: "If the County gets out of all services, what will the reason be to have a County government?"

The services that a county historically provides, of which booking and courts are only part, are the reasons for its existence. Also, if the provision of services is gradually deleted, it would seem that the costly management and bureaus would still exist with less to do, and yet, in a continued high-cost of existence. If the police just stop arresting people, and thus deprive the County of those booking fees, there will be lots of expensive people around doing nothing ... right? It's possible!

Councilman Bob Burns will address matters of concern to Lemon Grove and its citizens. If you have questions or suggestions for Dr. Burns, send them to P.O. Box BB, Lemon Grove, 91946.

From Where I Sit

by Frank Andrews

On the late-night news, the very knowledgeable, monotonous weatherman assured us San Diegans that weather for the next couple days would be "beautiful as usual."

I was awakened that next morning by the storm that brought much-needed rain, but which was accompanied by lots of loud thunder and bright flashes of lightning. I jumped out of bed to tend to my beloved dog, Lady. She was old and very agitated by storm noises. We kept her outdoors at night to earn her room and board as a watchdog.

In a couple of seconds, after I got my bearings, I noticed that the power was off in our house. I remembered the new rechargeable flashlight that our son had given us for Christmas a couple years ago, and we had never used before. I grabbed it and ran out the door to retrieve my poor, scared dog. I shined the light all over our yard and called loudly, "Lady, Lady, where are you?" All I managed to do was wake up the few neighbors that had slept through the storm.

I was getting worried for my old pal, when the patio sliding door slid open and my wife, Willie, hollered out, "Come in the house right now, you old fool, and get in out of the rain. Lady is in the house, because I woke up before you did, and let her in."

Lady was looking at me through the glass door, wondering who the big, noisy intruder was.

Back in the house, snug and dry, many more annoyances from the storm were to be encountered. First, the clocks were all wrong - about three hours behind. "It was still too early to get up, but what the heck, I'll just shave for a change and that will really impress Willie," I thought. But there was no power for my electric shaver and not enough light yet to use the blade razor, lest I cut my throat.

"Well, I'll just watch the late, late, late show on TV until Willie gets up," I thought next. Then I remembered that power was also needed for the TV and VCR. Both of these super-technical machines have to be re-programmed whenever there is a break in the current. Once before, it took me nearly a whole evening to just get the clock to tell the correct time, and now I had to reset the whole shebang. Woe was me!

Oh, how I wished we would have chosen all-gas cooking when we remodelled the kitchen last year. Now, I had to settle for the much-needed "fiber" that I have read so much about with milk. Just opening the "fridge" made me think horrible thoughts of what would happen to the food stuffs in there as well as in the freezer in the garage if the power was off for any length of time.

To get away from this primitive way of living, at least until all was back to normal, I decided to do our grocery shopping. The first reminder of the crisis in the community was my encounter with the first non-working traffic lights. All four corners of traffic were jumping the gun to get across. I suppose nearly everyone was late for work and couldn't contend with too many delays.

The power was on now at the supermarket, so shopping is what I did. The only complaint I had, up until then, was the usual high prices. The slogan "three's a crowd at the check-out line" didn't hold true this day.

Just as I got up to have my delicacies totaled and bagged, the power went off for a few seconds and all the lights in the store flickered. It was just enough to screw up all the computer-type cash registers. The line grew by the minute while the manager re-programmed those modern-day man-made brains.

I finally returned home and flopped down in my big recliner, dreading the chore of resetting all the gadgets in our house. I said a little prayer, "Thank-you, God for giving us a storm as rarely as you do."

Methodist Church plans special lunch and talent show

Lemon Grove United Methodist Church will be serving a homemade chili/cornbread lunch on Sunday, April 21, from noon until 1 p.m.

Many members are preparing delicious desserts and others are presenting a talent/no-talent show for this event. Tickets for the lunch are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 and under. Tickets are available in the church office or by calling 466-3291. The church is located at 3205 Washington.

Does the name ring a bell? Holaday! Yeah, you're right, Bob Holaday and his sister Maxine McWilliams, both natives of Lemon Grove, are working together in real estate. Their family once owned the old Holaday house on Broadway until it was removed two years ago. Bob is still in the house business. He is now the "house hunter." Bob is there to find that home you have always been looking for. A call to Bob Holaday and Maxine McWilliams will have them looking for the best property for you.

Now this has to be an interesting job. Sandy and her associates are in the business of Legal Support. She has been collecting rents, delivering legal documents of all kinds, and is a lady that can deliver when all others come up with nothing. She is a licensed Private Investigator and uses a motor cycle to get around town for fast service. If you need legal papers delivered or maybe you know of an owner of rental property needing papers served to a tenant, give Sandy a call. If anyone can do it, Sandy will be the one.

Nick is still Top Hat

Last month were you confused about Top Hat and Nick & Tony's Gourmet Foods?

Nicholas Cappiello is working around the clock. During the day-light hours he is operating Top Hat Catering and Deli at 7810 Broadway, the same business address he has had for several years.

In the evening hours he will operate out of the same building, just a different door, 7812 Broadway.

Nick & Tony's Gourmet Foods will be busy supplying local convenience stores and other locations with his delicious, nutritious, wholesome, fresh and colorful cuisine.

Nick thrives on keeping busy and now you can thrive on all his gourmet delights, day or night, either at Top Hat Catering and Deli, or at your local grab-n-go.
